VICTORY COMES IN FINAL GAME

Beaten Saturday in Great Game
the Republics Turn Tables on Rail Lights.

HAGERMAN WINS IT 6 TO 0

Breaks in Luck Cost Sherlow His Game in Opener of Well Played Series.

The closing series of the year with the Toledo Rail Lights Saturday and Sunday resulted in two shutouts, each team getting one, the Traction team from the Buckeye state winning from Sherlow 2 to 0 on Saturday, and taking a 6 to 0 defeat on Sunday with Hagerman in the box for the Truckmakers.

The results of the series leave the Republics and Rail Lights tied for the season, but the Republics have as strong, if not stronger claim to the middle west semi-pro championship, than have the Rail Lights. The Rail Lights lost a series to the Staleys of Decatur, Illinois, which the Republics defeated twice in three games. The Republic have played 52 games this season with the strongest semi-pro aggregations in the middle west, winning 42 of the games played for an average of .808. Not a single series was lost during the season, and only four teams, the Detroit All Stars, of the colored professional league; the Rail Lights, the Pyottas of Chicago, and the Murphy-Diddits of Omaha, have been able to hold the Alma team even on a series of games.

Saturday Bob Sherlow pitched the finest game of his career, and was forced to go against Collamore, the ace of the Rail Light staff. Sherlow clearly outpitched Collamore, but the breaks in luck went against him and he was forced to take a 2 to 0 defeat. Sherlow allowed six hits to the eight that were taken from Collamore. He struck out eight to Collamore's six. He walked just one man, while Collamore gave two passes to first.

In tight innings during the game the Republics had men on the sacks when the side died. In six of these innings men were perched on second, and in the other two, men were on third. It required sensational support behind Collamore to keep the Republics away from the plate, and he got it, luck breaking with him from start to finish. Had Sherlow been able to get the break in luck that Collamore had, without a doubt he would have won by a shutout.

The Traction team got its first run in the fifth. With one down Brengan singled. Loney struck out. Hunter dropped Collamore's fly in left, and Brengan scored from first. The other run came in the ninth. Clark singled. Sweeney grounded out, Clark going to third. Brengan lifted a long fly to right, and Clark beat the peg to the plate.

The Sunday game saw the Republics pound the offerings of Bell and Brambley to all corners of the lot, not one Republic player being struck out during the game, indicating that that aggregation had its fighting clothes on right from the start. Bell was taken for eleven hits in 5 1-3 innings, when Brambley, with the New York Americans this spring, replaced him. The Republics continued to hit the pill hard, but drove the ball at someone during the balance of the game.

Just one man reached second base on Hagerman's delivery until the ninth, and up to that time he had yielded only two hits. In the ninth he eased up and was taken for two more blows. With men on second and third, and two down in that inning he ended the Rail Lights one big chance to avert a shutout, by striking out Brengan, considered a dangerous hitter. "Rip" hurled a beautiful game the entire nine innings, in putting over his twenty-fifth victory in 26 games for the season.

The Republics broke the ice in the second frame of the Sunday battle. Chouinard singled to third, the ball being too hot for Bresnahan to handle. He was sacrificed to second by Dumelle. Loney flied out. McElligott singled, Chouinard being held at third. With Boyle at bat, McElligott attempted a delayed steal, which allowed Chouinard to score, and McElligott to take second. In the following inning further chances were presented, but poor base running cost scores. Hagerman and Oakes were both nailed at the plate in the third.

A heavy barrage of hits started in the fifth. McElligott opened the festivities with a double. Boyle singled McElligott scoring. Boyle was cut down at second on Hagerman's fielder's choice. Oakes walked. Tooley patted one for two sacks, scoring Hagerman and Oakes, but was out trying to stretch it into a triple. Hunter and Chouinard singled, but Dumelle's best was a fly to left.

The sixth inning saw Bell driven to cover, in favor of Brambley. Loney singled but was out at second on McElligott's fielder's choice. Boyle slammed his second single to left. Hagerman smashed one to the fence for two sacks, scoring McElligott and Boyle. Bell beat it for the showers, Brambley going to the box. Oakes flied out. Tooley was safe on Wilde's error. Hunter grounded out.

In the seventh a double play probably killed off further scoring chances.

MEET OWOSSO

High Schoolers Determined to Wipe Out Ithaca Defeat.

Stung to the quick by the 2 to 0 defeat inflicted upon the team in the opening game of the season at Ithaca last Friday, the Alma high school football team has been working out this week with a view of wiping out the defeat this week by handing a beating to Owoosso high, which two weeks ago walloped Ithaca.

Owoosso will be played on Davis field at 3:45 p. m. Friday afternoon, and the game gives every promise of being a real gridiron battle, as Owoosso has a good team, which on comparative scores is considerably better than the local eleven. While rated as better than Mullin's cohorts, the Owoossos will not find the going easy. There is plenty of real determination in the Alma camp, and Owoosso is more than likely to find that the lighter aggregation is more than her match.

The Ithaca defeat has served a good purpose, even though it must be admitted that the defeat should not have come. It has served to wake up the local gridirers, and they have been working with a vim this week. Men who haven't been out up to the time of the Ithaca fray, turned out this week, including Cross, a veteran, Ellison, a sub last year, who broke into several games, and Nelson, a 200 pounder, who is expected to develop into a lineman of real class.

STRONG ELEVEN IS COLLEGE PROSPECT

Steele Will Have Heavy Team,
But Green Men Means Slow
Start for Aggregation.

Alma College will have a green football eleven this fall, but it also has the promise of an eleven that may have power and speed; its greenness precludes a brilliant opening of the season next Wednesday, however, when the Maroon and Cream will meet the Michigan Aggies at East Lansing, as the Aggies will send a veteran aggregation against Alma.

There is every possibility that once away from the Michigan Aggie game the Steele coached aggregation will show a rapid improvement, and that the latter stages of the season will see the Alma team rounded out to form a formidable fighting machine with both weight and speed. That does not mean that Alma is certain to win the M. I. A. A. title. That is even now apparently tied up tight by the veteran Kalamazoo College team which walloped M. A. C. 21 to 2 last Saturday. Alma can by hard scrapping get into second place in the M. I. A. A. scramble, even with a green team, and Coach Steele is bending every effort to shove the Maroon and Cream just as far up the ladder as possible.

Waggoner, a veteran from last year, is now almost certain to be retained at the center job. McFadden of Howell and Hileman of Alma, both green men, but heavy, may possibly work into the guard jobs. Hileman has a hard task ahead of him, however, never having played high school football. His 225 pounds should be a big asset to him, once he learns something of the game. The tackles will go to Brewer of St. Louis, Barabean, a veteran star, or possibly McNaughton, a husky from Crosswell. Should Brewer be used on the backfield McNaughton has a fine chance for the tackle job. Rose, who is out of the game for a few days with injuries, and Rothberg of Inlay City, are expected to work into the end places. The latter looks like a find when it comes to pulling out forward passes.

On the backfield Beattie of Detroit and Walker of Almont will hold forth at quarter and full, it is expected. Foster, a new comer, is showing fine stuff at half and should take the job. The other half is still a puzzle, but it would not be greatly surprising to see Brewer put at the job, so that full advantage may be taken of his line plunging ability.

There is still a fine opportunity for several other men to show stuff enough to make a first team job, and it would not be at all surprising if others should convince Steele that they have the stuff, particularly, as he has his mind still open, and is watching the men closely with a view of picking out the best that the squad offers.

Efforts are still being made to secure a game for this week, but so far no school has been carded, and it is hardly probable now that the Maroon and Cream will have a game before facing M. A. C.

DIED IN WEST

Word has been received here of the death of Mrs. Emma Bangs of Box Elder, Montana, on Monday, September 6. She was a former resident of this city, moving to the western state about ten years ago, and since that time has made her home in Box Elder.

RESIGNS FROM CITY POSITION

Mrs. Jessie Wolford, Clerk, Will Retire from City Job on October 15.

NO SUCCESSOR IS SECURED

Commission Must Locate New Official or Appoint a Deputy in a Short Time.

Considerable surprise was manifested around the city yesterday, when it became known that on Tuesday night, Mrs. Jessie Wolford, city clerk, had tendered her resignation to the city commission on the previous evening to take effect on Friday, October 15.

The notice, short, but to the point, assigned no reason for the resignation, but it is believed that for some little time Mrs. Wolford has felt that the work in the clerk's office has been too much for one person to handle properly. It is this reason, probably, that has had much to do in causing her to resign from the position to which she was appointed early in the year, upon the resignation of Carl E. Gallagher, the former clerk.

Following a short discussion, the commission voted to accept the resignation.

Mrs. Wolford was the first woman ever to hold a public office in this city, and very probably stands out as one of the first women in the state to hold such an office.

The city commissioners have no idea at the present time who may be selected as a successor to Mrs. Wolford, and Mayor Murphy expressed himself yesterday, as greatly puzzled over a possible successor.

For some months the city has not had a deputy in this office, so it will be necessary for the city commission to take action very soon looking towards the appointment of a successor for Mrs. Wolford as city clerk, or else appoint a deputy clerk to hold office temporarily.

MARRIED WEDNESDAY

Marguerite Crawford Married to
James M. Hopkins at Beckenridge.

Op. Wednesday afternoon, September 29, at the home of the bride's mother at Beckenridge, occurred the marriage of Miss Marguerite Agnes Crawford, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Crawford, and Mr. James Millard Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hopkins. At 5:30 o'clock Miss Grace D. Roberts, instructor of piano at Alma College, rendered a beautiful selection on the piano and then to the strains of the Lohengrin Bridal Chorus, played by Miss Roberts, the bride party descended the stairs and took their places beneath a bower of green and white crepe paper and white astors, where Rev. L. L. Sheadman read the marriage ceremony in the presence of about fifty guests. During the ceremony Miss Roberts played softly.

The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Alf. F. Crawford, and the ring service was used.

The bride was attended by Miss Helen Kingsbury of Alma as maid of honor, Mrs. Edwin Jakeway of Flint as matron of honor, and Miss Theima Huntton of Beckenridge as bridesmaid. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Clarence Hopkins, Jr., as best man, and Messrs. Edwin Jakeway and DeVoid Shepard as groomsmen. Messrs. Roland Morrison and Edward Crawford of Ithaca and H. Blair DuVall and Watson Crawford of Beckenridge acted as ushers.

The bride was gowned in white ivory satin, georgette crepe and silver lace with a bridal veil of embroidered maline caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white bridal roses.

The maid of honor wore an attractive gown of pink taffeta, the matron of honor and bridesmaid were charming in gowns of pale blue Georgette and yellow taffeta. Each carried a bouquet of harmonizing colors.

After congratulations had been extended, a wedding dinner was served by nine young people, intimate friends of the bride and groom. The bridal party were seated at the large dining table and the other guests at small tables throughout the living rooms. The color scheme predominating in the dining room was yellow and white. Streamers of yellow and white crepe paper extended from the chandelier to the four corners of the bride's table and four glass candlesticks contained yellow and white candles. Dainty place cards of corresponding colors enabled the guests to find their places. The centerpiece of the bride's table was a large white wedding cake. The same plan of decorations was carried out at the smaller tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins left that evening for a honeymoon trip in the east stopping at Buffalo, Niagara Falls, and Clearfield, Penn. On the return trip they expect to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jakeway at Flint. Mr. Hopkins is manager of the Riverdale Elevator Company and they will be at home to their friends about October 20th in their new home at Riverdale.

Rally Day Proclamation

In as much as Sunday, October 3rd, has been chosen by the Alma Federation of Churches as Rally Day in this city, and inasmuch as the moral tone of any community is unquestionably raised by a church going habit on the part of its citizens, and

Inasmuch as many in our community either do not have that habit or are negligent of its maintenance, and inasmuch as the day named offers a definite time when as a community we can take thought of this matter and reform our ways,

I therefore as Mayor of the City of Alma do proclaim, Sunday, October 3rd, as Rally Day for the whole city. On that day I must earnestly urge every person in Alma to heed the invitation of the churches and to be in attendance at divine worship in their own respective churches. I therefore urge that the practice thus commenced shall be regularly continued upon every Lord's Day throughout the year and church attendance become a characteristic of our city.

Charles R. Murphy, Mayor.

NIGHT SCHOOL IS TO START MONDAY

Regular High School Courses,
Commercial Work, Etc., to Be Given.

On Monday evening, October 4, at 7:00 o'clock, a night school will be opened in the high school building, stated J. W. Kelder, superintendent of the Alma public schools Tuesday. Courses will be offered in commercial work, manual training, the regular high school courses and in dress-making, and cooking, provided that enough people signify their desire to take any of these courses, it was announced.

Superintendent Kelder believes it will not be advisable to give any of these courses unless at least ten people desire them, so if anyone is contemplating taking any of the courses that will be offered, they should be present at the high school building Monday evening, and make known their desires in this respect, so that the various classes may be organized that evening and the preliminary work of organization of the classes gotten out of the way, so that the regular instruction may be started at the earliest possible moment.

Superintendent Kelder stated that the classes of the night school will meet two or three times each week, according to the desires of the members of the various classes. Tuition for the classes that meet twice each week will be $3.00 per month, and for those that meet three nights each week, the tuition will be $4.00 per month.

It is expected that the night school will continue over a period of from five to six months, and credit for work done at the high school will be given on the same basis as the high school credit for the regular day school.

The opening of the night school offers opportunities that a number of Alma people, who are desirous of improving themselves in certain branches, will undoubtedly be glad to avail themselves of.

DE LUXE SOLD

Well Known State Street Candy
Store Changes Hands.

Frank Valetine and Frank Chronis, former employees of Nick Frantos of the DeLuxe Candy Company, have purchased the store, which Mr. Frantos opened about five years ago, it was announced this week, the two men purchasing the store from Mr. Barbos, a Detroit confectionery manufacturer, who purchased it from N. Frantos, when he left for Athens, Greece, some few weeks ago.

Both Mr. Valetine and Mr. Chronis have had several years experience in the manufacture of ice cream, candies, confections and other sweets, as well as in serving light lunches, etc., which they propose to sell in connection with the confectionery and ice cream business that Mr. Frantos established, and they invite the public to call and inspect the place at any time, which they aim to keep in a perfect state of sanitation.

Nick Frantos came to Alma about five years ago, and conducted the business until just a few weeks ago, when ill health caused him to dispose of the business, and return to Greece for a visit, after an absence of twenty years.

FARMERS' ATTENTION

A special big mass meeting will be held in Court House at Ithaca October 8 at 8 p. m. to discuss and vote on organizing Gratiot county under the Farm Bureau of Michigan.

Gratiot is the last of the lower counties of Michigan to take up this big system of organization. Organizer L. A. Halden and others of the State Farm Bureau will address the meeting.

ATTENDANCE AT CHURCH URGED

Alma Federation Asks All People of City to be at Services on Sunday.

A PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED

Mayor Charles R. Murphy Aids
Movement, Lending His Efforts
To Move.

Sunday, October 3, has been named as City Wide Rally Day by a vote of the Alma Federation of Churches, and by virtue of a proclamation issued yesterday by Mayor Charles R. Murphy.

On that day all churches of Alma earnestly urge every person in Alma to observe the day as a Holy day, and to be in attendance at the various church services of the church of their choice, as many times that day as possible.

Addresses for the Sunday services are being prepared by the pastors, which should be inspiring to say the least. There will be features of more than ordinary interest to the young people and to the children that will be presented in the various Sunday schools.

This special day does not imply that the churches of Alma are not well attended regularly by many faithful Christian people, but does indicate that there are many people in Alma who should strive to make Sunday a more Holy day than they have been doing. There are numbers of one-time church members in this city who, at one time enthusiastic workers in their churches, now seldom attend such services here. There are others who while admitting the evil of their habit, stay in bed Sunday mornings until it is too late to even allow their children to attend Sunday school.

Just what this laxity means few people seem to realize. Recently a Chicago judge made a stirring appeal to the Sunday schools of that city to gather the children into their classes. In doing so, he said, that in his long years of service in connection with the juvenile courts, he knew of few instances where children, who had regularly attended the Sunday school, had come before him for trial, and he laid the present increase in juvenile delinquency to careless parents and pleasure loving people.

The contention of this Chicago judge is at once apparent when one stops to consider the matter carefully, and certain it is that the moral tone, not only of this, but of future generations, will depend to a great extent upon the ideals that are held before the people.

Customs and laws have set aside Sunday as a day to be observed by church attendance and consideration of the highest known way of life thereby making a finer, more noble people.

A recent census of Gratiot county indicated that there are 8,000 children of school age, yet only a few over 2,000 of these are in attendance at the Sunday schools of the county, on the average. It is fitting that Alma should be a leader in Gratiot county in this move, which could well be followed by the entire county.

The churches do not intend to stop with this one rally day, but are preparing for the following Sunday with a slogan "pack the churches," and they intend to carry this slogan through not only on the succeeding Sunday, but also those that follow.

Rally day has a wonderful idea back of it, but it is up to the Alma people to carry it through to a success, and aid in making Alma truly a city of churches.

NO RE-REGISTRATION

Alma Voters Are Not Required to Re-Register This Year.

Many Alma voters, who have been reading items in various state papers, have secured the impression that there will be a re-registration before the general election in November, but have little to worry about, as there will be no need for those now registered to re-register before that election.

The law provides in cities of over 10,000 that there shall be a re-registration, but that in cities of under 10,000 there will not be a re-registration unless the governing body of the city so declares before August 14. As this was not done by the city commission Alma will not have a general re-registration.

Voters who are not registered must register, however, to be able to vote at the November election. Registration notice will be found elsewhere in this issue.

DIED IN EAST

Rev. J. C. Elliott of Troy, N. Y., the father of Mrs. H. M. Crooks of this city, died last Wednesday at Troy at the age of 80 years. He had been in the ministry for 54 years. Rev. Elliott, who was well known in this city, was a veteran of the Civil War. The funeral was held Monday and interment was made in Arlington National cemetery at Washington, D. C. Mrs. Crooks was called to Troy early last week by the illness of her father.

SWEET SHOP

Nick Bardavill and William Bourikas
Secure Another Enterprise.

Nick Bardavill and William Bourikas, two members of the firm of Nick Bardavill & Company, which owns the European Cafe in this city, closed a deal Monday, purchasing the Strand Sweet Shop. They took possession of the recently opened store Monday evening.

In announcing the purchase of the Sweet Shop Tuesday afternoon Mr. Bardavill stated that they had not only purchased the business, but that a very suitable lease had been negotiated with C. A. Miller, manager of the Strand theatre, and he was apparently very much enthused over the business prospects that the Sweet Shop offers.

While both Nick Bardavill and William Bourikas will confine the greater part of their efforts to the European Cafe, which they have owned during the past few years, they expect to devote considerable time and money to make the Strand Sweet Shop all that such a place should be, located as it is, and catering to the desires and conveniences of the show-house patrons. Mr. Andrew Jacobson, who has a wide experience in such work, arrived in Alma the first of the week from Kenosha, Wisconsin, and has taken charge of the Strand Sweet Shop for the new owners.

Nick Bardavill and William Bourikas have had the active management of the European Cafe, since it was purchased by the company some few years ago, and their success in that venture speaks well for the future outlook of the Sweet Shop, and promises to make it a popular place with Alma people.

ITHACA IS HANDED THE FIRST GAME

Error of Judgment Gave County
Seat Team a 2 to 0 Win
Over High School.

The Alma high school football team lost the opening game of the season at Ithaca on Friday, a safety coming in the first quarter of the game giving the County Seaters a 2 to 0 victory, the smallest score possible in a gridiron encounter.

Poor judgment in calling plays used by the locals is the lone reason for the defeat, and not any great superiority of the Ithaca eleven. The Alma clan, green for the greater part of the battle and contently gained more ground.

Several times during the grid fray the locals carried the ball far into Ithaca territory, but poor judgment in the selection of plays, in almost every case, killed off the chances for touchdowns. Just before the whistle blew to end the game, the Alma team carried the ball on forward passes from its own territory to the Ithaca ten yard line, and those who saw the fray, were expecting another pass which would put the pigskin behind the goal for an Alma victory. With the team lining up for the play by which it was hoped to pull a victory out of the fire, the timer's whistle blew, ending the game.

Ithaca had a heavy line, and during the first of the fray the locals could not penetrate it, but later in the battle made several good gains through the mass of beef. At the forward passing game, which was not used to the extent that it should have been, the Alma team was far superior to Ithaca, and had it used this style of play earlier, would in all probability, have changed the result of the game.

TWO STATE CONVENTIONS

This year two state Sunday school conventions will be held in Michigan, one at Muskegon, October 13, 14 and 15, and one at Escanaba, October 15, 16 and 17 for northern Michigan. At Muskegon the convention theme will be "Religious Education." The first meeting will open with a song service under the direction of Tullar and Meredith at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning in the Methodist church. It will be devoted to devotional exercises and addresses of welcome and response.

Every afternoon will be given at least in part to sectional conferences meeting in various places. The sections named on the program are Children's, Young People's, Adult Bible Class, County Officers, S. S. Executive Officers and Religious Education. In the evening the big meetings of the convention will be held in the armory.

Registration headquarters for the convention will be located in the Central M. E. church. The registration fee is $1.00. This entitles the delegates to lodging and breakfasts, hymn book, souvenir program, Michigan S. S. Advance for one year and a reserved seat in the armory. Surely no one ever got more for his money.

Admission to the meetings will be granted only to registered delegates wearing the official badge, until the hour of beginning. After that the general public will be admitted. Prominent speakers of the International and State Sunday School associations are among those whom the delegates will hear.

BIG BOND ISSUE GOES TO VOTERS

City Commission Will Submit
An $80,000 Proposition at the November Election.

TO COMPLETE WATER SYSTEM

Seek Elevated Tank, Million Gallon
Reservoir, Etc., to Make System Adequate.

Through action of the city commission Tuesday evening in unanimously passing a resolution prepared by James G. Kress, city attorney, it has become certain that the voters of Alma will pass on the proposed bond issue of $80,000 at the November election, the bond issue to be used in the completion of the pure water system, by making it adequate for the needs of Alma, and to provide sufficient water to care for considerable expansion of the city.

The bond issue, which is the biggest that has ever been put before the Alma voters, is the outcome of a year's careful study of the conditions and needs of Alma by William E. Reynolds, city manager.

Data covering the water pumped every day over the past year, the amount consumed during the day, the amount consumed during the night, and the surplus that can be secured from the wells during the hours of the night have been carefully tabulated, so that under present conditions Manager Reynolds knows just how much water can be expected from the wells.

This has made him firmly convinced that Alma can secure enough pure well water from the wells for the city's needs and that water can also be stored up, and made available for fire protection, so that it will not be necessary to go to the river for water in case of fire.

His study of the situation has made it plain that the water available from the wells during the day, is not sufficient for the day needs, but that the water that can be pumped from the wells over a twenty-four hour period, taking the night hours when little water is being used, will furnish a surplus over the needs of the entire twenty-four hours.

He bases his estimates for the bond issue on the erection of a 150,000 gallon tank, the top of which will be 165 feet above the ground; on a million gallon reservoir, a plunger pump, and water extensions and new wells. With the elevated tank, and the million gallon reservoir sufficient water can not only be stored up to meet the day needs, but there is water enough available over the twenty-four-hour period, to make certain that the tank and reservoir can be filled in about a week's time, so that ample fire protection can be secured, without using river water and polluting the water mains, once they have been cleaned out to carry the well water.

In his estimate for water extensions and new wells he proposes that the city use a portion of the $25,200 to be made available for this purpose, to sink two or three new wells to deeper stratas of water, which according to the state geologist, are said to exist below the stratas that are now being tapped by the wells previously put down.

Manager Reynolds is firmly convinced that if Alma people get behind the city commission on this matter that the completion of the pure well water supply can be very satisfactorily achieved.

In his estimate for water extensions and new wells he proposes that the city use a portion of the $25,200 to be made available for this purpose, to sink two or three new wells to deeper stratas of water, which according to the state geologist, are said to exist below the stratas that are now being tapped by the wells previously put down.

PURCHASE BUILDING

Little Rock Coal Company Has Purchased Spaulding Sheds.

Announcement of the purchase of the Spaulding sheds of the Home Lumber & Fuel Company, by the Little Rock Coal Company has been made by J. D. Sullivan, president and general manager of the latter concern.

In making the announcement Mr. Sullivan stated that his company would immediately start remodeling these sheds, which combined with the shed of the Little Rock company, will give the company one of the largest lumber sheds in the county, as it will be 44 by 298 feet in length.

A carpenter shop will be installed in the south part of the remodeled Spaulding shed, with planers, rip-saw and cut-off, while the north half of the shed will be made into a dust proof room in which finished windows will be stored.

About twenty-five ladies attended the regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the American Legion, which was held Tuesday evening at the city hall. After all business was transacted, the ladies were put to rest by the able entertainment committee. Mrs. Kanter, president, had a winning way with her, so there was no surprise when the judges awarded her the prize in the smiling contest. Now, ladies, if you want to know what the prize was, come to the next meeting which will be held Tuesday evening, October 11. Watch the paper to see who this next meeting will be held, as we know if you once attend, you will continue to do so.
